

Questions for Conversation

11.29.20

With Thanksgiving behind us, there is a danger of leaving attentiveness to our blessings behind. Share something that you have been thankful for this week.

How has God been speaking to you in the last week?

This series during Advent is based on Hark the Herald Angels Sing. What is your favorite Christmas carol or line from a Christmas carol?

Perhaps it would be helpful to read or re-read Col. 1.15-23. Pay attention to the occurrences of a form of “all” and “reconciliation.”

What do you notice?

During the sermon, Rob attempted to unpack the term, reconciliation. What aspect(s) of the term is helpful or informative to you (they don't have to be things that you didn't know before, just what spoke to you today about reconciliation)?

If you are anything like Rob, the awareness of or knowledge of the miracle of reconciliation has not produced as much transformation as you might expect.

What do you think the obstacles or barriers are to greater transformation?

What steps ought we take to be open to being more radically transformed by the reality of being reconciled?

We read in 2 Cor. 5, that we have not only been reconciled to God but that God has given us the ministry of reconciliation. What would it look like or what would it take for you to do what Christ did in Kierkegaard's the King and the Maiden?

Share joys and concerns. Pray
