

Questions for Conversations

[icebreaker]

Who have you been “following”? (on Twitter or whatever platform)

.10 Paul says that Timothy has been following Paul (meaning both physically and in line with his teaching)

What should we make of .12?

Have we proven it untrue?

Should we be expecting it?

If we are expecting it, what are you doing to get ready for it? (I am talking about spiritually, not stockpiling rice)

What do you think about Paul’s insertion of patience into the typical list of faith, hope, and love (literally love, faith, and endurance in today’s passage)

What do you think of Rob’s take on inspiration? What if the purpose of the God-breathedness of the Bible is to bring forth life?

If the purpose of the Bible is to bring forth life, why is it we don’t go there when we are running low on life?

What area, do you need to say over your own life or someone else’s BUT NOT YOU.

What challenge do you have that you need to know you are overqualified for?

Real honest time (maybe don’t answer out loud).

Do we hope to overcome error and grow in truth, to overcome evil and grown in holiness?

Hope is not just a wish.

Do you expect to?

What steps are you taking?

Have there been things that you committed to hold one another accountable for?
How are those going?

Share joys and concerns.
