

Questions for Conversations

04.11.21

Do you think that Rob is right about Jesus' habit of asking questions, that he uses them to open people up?

Rob noted in the passage, several instances of Jesus seeing people. Do you think there is something there, or was he making too much of it?

When you think about Jesus seeing you, what comes to mind? How does it make you feel?

If Jesus asked you right now, what you wanted, and you couldn't lie to him or kid yourself, what would your answer be? This may be too personal to share, but time to think about it should be given.

Pay attention this week, to the ways God is asking you, "What do you want?"

Pay attention in your conversations this week to the useful tool that a question can be is to helping open up space for God.

Pray for wisdom and sensitivity to ask the right question.

Share and prayer.
