

Questions for Conversations

06.20.21

If a family wanted to talk about the message, some time could be taken at the beginning to try to make duck tape sculptures.

What is the craziest thing you have connect or reconnected with duck tape?

What was the last good thing that happened to you that was somewhat noteworthy (promotion, engagement, good medical test results, etc.)?

Rob believes that we are wired to share the greats in our lives (great joys and great wounds).

How quickly did you share the good news from above?

How quickly do you share someone else's bad news?

How quickly do you share your bad news?

Today we looked at confession and repentance. How quickly are you to confess and repent when you sin or wrong someone?

What do you think about the idea of confession/repentance being like duck tape for the Christian life?

Rob said he has too often operated with a partial understanding of holiness.

What did you think about that idea? Do you resonate with it at all?

How might we become more a people who readily confess and repent? What needs to happen in us individually or in our families, or our community?

Do you need to get the duck tape out before you are done today?

Share and prayer.