How has God been speaking to you lately?

What has he been saying?

How can we help each other hear God more (frequently and clearly)?

What questions do you have about this week's message?

Where (or how) might God be asking you to move?

Stated in another way, who might God be asking to associate with?

What about your context might God be wanting you to change?

What might God be asking you to share?

What thing(s) about you do you hide the most?

What do you think about Rob's application of his friend's graphic arts model?

Are you willing to risk being known in order to know the comfort of a truly close friend (Jesus or another human)?

What do you think about the idea that in our human relationships we can be impressive or known but not both?
